

While the world around us seems to be changing with increasing speed, there is one thing that remains constant—the dream held in the heart. Our dream at Tange is to apply technology in a way that can help us to make better performing bicycles. We are on a continuous quest to develop new and better forks, frame tubing, and materials that can make the bicycle more enjoyable to ride and to own. Our dream is to help make bicycles that can truly enrich our lives and the society we live in.

Our new company slogan, "Creating a New Tradition," embodies our enthusiasm for the bicycle and our faith in the dream. It states our philosophy that, while the past is important, it is the future which holds the key. We hope to create that future with a new tradition of excellence from Tange.
